

Historical moment

Important dates and anniversaries that mark milestones in science

This may be birthdays of prominent scientists, anniversaries of natural phenomena (e.g., volcanic eruptions) or discoveries. Each post should include 1-3 photos. Large, high resolution photos are best; the social media team will format them for each platform.

Example

[Post on November 7] Marie Curie was born 153 years ago today. She discovered polonium and radium and was awarded Nobel Prizes in both physics and chemistry. She was the first woman to receive the award. These notes are from experiments done in 1898 with her husband, Pierre.

